

30 March 2022

Greetings to everyone. What a joyous Mothering Sunday service we had. It was so good to see Festus and family back with us and the beautiful Arielle who was all smiles. How good too to have special prayers for Ify, Ezim and family for Teresa, and, Festus, Fiona, Ernest and Kelechi, for Dorothy, in memory of both mothers who were much loved and a valued part of our congregation. We know that all the fine qualities they had will live on in their families and always be remembered by us.

Talking of Mothers, on 25th March, the Church celebrated the Annunciation of Mary; a very young woman who gave her willing consent saying “Yes” to God and gave birth to Jesus. The picture Mary gives us is of a strong, determined, independent, enduring in suffering, faithfully caring role model for women. When you read of her life, the conditions in which she lived as a woman of that time, and think of all that she went through holding much in her heart and knowing what would happen to her son, there is no way she can be considered the meek and mild, rather vapid person so often portrayed in a number of hymns, statues, paintings and centuries of writing that have been damaging to women. Looking at the mothers in countries such as Ukraine, Syria, Afghanistan and so many others, women identify with the suffering that she went through, recognised her great strength, and draw their courage from her.

I couldn't help including below one of my favourite icons of “The Annunciation” by a Ukrainian iconographer, a print of which I have in my study. I just love the thought of Mary sitting there, all unsuspecting about what is about to happen, with the Angel peeping round the opening to her room ready to deliver God's great request.

Last week Ruth and I attended a webinar session on “The Sanctuary Foundation”, which is a collaborative project led by Dr Krish Kandiah to find Humanitarian Sponsors from families, individuals, churches, community groups and individuals, to sponsor Ukrainian refugees coming to the UK, following his successful campaigns to support Syrian and Afghan refugees and newcomers from Hong Kong. We will be writing up an account of this meeting for the next week's edition telling us more about it with possible ways we as a church could be involved.

I have written a final piece on the Anglican-Lutheran Society's AGM Day on "Climate Emergency: Connecting Faith and Community", which is an account of the Revd Helen Burnett's activism as a member of "Christian Climate Action" and "Extinction Rebellion".

Jenny has contributed some new prayers from different sources for Ukraine and we have an article on the difference between Mothering Sunday and Mother's Day by Mrs. Angela Ndukuba, Provincial President, Church of Nigeria (Anglican Communion) sent in by Abi.

Next week, after church, we will be having a discussion about our action plan which is nearly completed. Kamran will be taking us through it and asking if you agree that this is the way forward for our church. We will be meeting immediately after the service and also having a light lunch. Do make a point of coming. It is so important to hear your views as you are an important member of our church family.

Thank you all for your contributions. It is so good to receive them; as I so often remind you, this is your newsletter where your views and articles are more than welcome. Please don't hesitate to send them in to Jennifer on: jennifer@gg-pc.co.uk who will pass them on to me.

With Love and Good Wishes – Sally

Climate Emergency: Connecting Faith and Community part ii - Sally The Revd Helen Burnett

The Revd Helen Burnett is vicar of Chaldon, Surrey, who believes in the importance of combining action with prayer, as in the Letter of James (James2:14-26). Helen gave a talk on the Climate Emergency and why she takes part with a large number of others in a more dramatic way than many to draw attention to the real issue this holds for all of us. Helen came to be a member of Xtinction rebellion after demonstrating with her parishioners and surrounding community members to prevent drilling taking place in the hills around them for fossil fuel. There was much unity and strength among them that fuelled their protest. Apart from writing to their MPs and getting no-where, a large number decided to take direct action and undertake a sit-in in front of the machinery lined up to drill into the hillside. They gained a great deal of publicity and some success. From this beginning and with her growing awareness of the danger to the world as a result of the Climate emergency, she joined “Christian Climate Action”, a group endorsed by the former Archbishop of Canterbury, Rowan Williams. Helen made it clear that her vocation as a priest, as well as being a teacher before ordination as well as a mother, committed her to act not only for her children and parishioners but, by extension, to the children of the world who will be more affected in their lifetimes than we are in ours. She told us that as a priest in the Anglican Communion, her vocation brings a commitment to the “Fifth Mark of Mission”, which is: “to strive to safeguard the integrity of creation, and sustain and renew the life of the earth”. She holds this duty in common with Christians across the globe, linked by a faith that demands love for neighbour and, where necessary, demands personal sacrifice; mindful that care for creation, extends to the soil, the trees, and all that lies within our parishes.

A driving force of social justice informs all she does, based on love, but also arising from a strong sense of righteous anger which drives her and others. Her increased action was strongly influenced by a 2018 report on the climate informing us that we have only 12 years left - our window of opportunity- until we face climate breakdown. She felt strongly, in line with those of many other faiths, that there is a spiritual dimension to what we are experiencing and any action that is taken together is based on Hope and the “solemn intention” to do something about it. As a result, Helen joined in the marches and demonstrations of Xinction rebellion, knowing there was a likelihood of being arrested, which she was, but also knowing that until something drastic took place to make people take this issue seriously nothing much would happen. “What I am doing” she said, “is nothing compared to what indigenous groups, who are suffering from climate change far greater than we are, who, when demonstrate against the vested interest of the companies who are responsible for what they are suffering, are arrested, imprisoned, tortured and often face death”.

Before COP26, Helen and others of Christian Climate Action went on a march from London to Glasgow to meet up with all the delegates assembling there (including Jenny). They walked in stages staying in church and community halls and being joined by other groups. They were well received by those who came to support them in towns and villages. One thing Helen pointed out, was that the community spirit, friendship, and love that developed by those on the march was like nothing she has ever experienced. Everything was shared, deep conversations were held between people and many questions asked about why she and others were there and what it was in their Christian faith that led them to do this. This she felt was Christian witness and was far more aware of doing something with Evangelisation than anything she had been able to do in her own parish. While walking on Good Friday, they handed out palm crosses, many people came up to them and asked if they might have one, asking questions and talking. Walking in a shared community of purpose, solidarity and Hope was the most important thing she had done. Helen and others will continue with her direct action facing arrest and fines to bring this key issue to the public’s attention whether they wanted to hear it or not, for in the end our future and that of our children's depend on it. Giles, who I wrote about last week, will carry on with his climate action. Both have the same aim but approach it in different ways and how important it is that we need both.

So good to meet up with Helen again and be inspired by her life of action.

Prayers for Ukraine - from Jenny

Picasso - Dove of Peace

If you want to pray about the heartbreaking and devastating situation in Ukraine, but like many of us struggle to find the words, you might find some of these prayers helpful.

Borders, barricades, bewilderment...
When the bargaining begins,
God please protect peace.
Sanctions, security measured in minutes and it's scary...
When safety scatters,
God please protect peace.
War dresses up in peace-keeper's clothes,
Troops amass, the ground trembles and so do people...
When the future feels fragile,
God please protect peace.
The littlest, the least likely to have a say,
Those whose lives are sanctioned and bargained over –
Violence always finds them first.
And the 'oh-so-important' political manoeuvres mean nothing to them.
They just want to live.
When the winners want to wipe them out of the way,
God please protect peace.
We will not turn away. We will stand together –
God give us the strength to protect peace.
Amen
(Christian Aid)

God of love, we are disconcerted by the violence in our world, and especially now by the acts of war in Ukraine.

Enable us to stand in solidarity with those who suffer, and who live today in fear and anxiety.
Sustain the hope of all those, in this beloved part of the world, who seek justice and peace.
Send the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of peace, to inspire the leaders of nations and all human beings.
(Taize Community)

God of peace, your prophet Isaiah promised swords would be turned into ploughshares, and your son's mother Mary proclaimed the mighty would be put down and the humble exalted: visit the people of Ukraine; deliver them from fear, violence, attack, injury, destruction, death; and give them courage, solidarity, and allies in their hour of vulnerability and sorrow.

Turn the hearts of those bent on war and invasion. Strengthen the hand of all seeking to halt conflict, restore order, and pursue justice. And make this moment of peril an occasion for your Holy Spirit to show your world the cost of conflict, and our dependence on one another.

In Christ our Lord, who went to his death because of our hatred, and rose again because our hatred is never stronger than your indomitable love. Amen
(St Martin in the Fields)

Mothering Sunday: Mother's Day - from Abi

Thinking of Mothering Sunday that we celebrated last Sunday, Abi helpfully sent us an article, attributed to Mrs. Angela Ndukuba, Provincial President, Church of Nigeria (Anglican Communion) clarifying the difference that exists between how Mothering Sunday is understood and that of Mother's Day. The two are so often confused, one being a celebration across the Anglican churches in different ways, according to different Church customs; the other being far more commercial and not really related to Church but never-the-less an appreciation of mothers. This is part of the article.

"Mothering Sunday" is a celebration of the Anglican Church from the early Church. It was originally a day to honour and give thanks to the Virgin Mary, also known as "Mother Mary", for her agony as recorded in Luke 2:35. The Celebrations required people to visit their mother Church – the main Church or Cathedral in the family area. As Christianity spread through Europe in the 16th Century, the celebration increased and was included in the Church Calendar as Mothering Sunday; an occasion to thank and appreciate all mothers as well as a family honoured reunion. It also became a celebration when children, especially girls who had been away from home as domestic helps or apprentices had a day off to join their family and see their mothers. Mothering Sunday is celebrated in the Anglican Church every Fourth Sunday in Lent, which is also three Sundays before Easter. Since it is celebrated mid Lent, it is also known as *Refreshing Sunday, a time when fasting can be eased for the day and people can enjoy a delicious meal together as family amidst the Lent.

Mothering Sunday is the only Sunday women are given a free hand to officiate in Sunday worship, taking charge of all the functions. (This is different from the practice in UK churches where women take a full participation in all services)

- One of the days the family takes the centre stage in worship and special prayers are offered on behalf of families.

- The less privileged and vulnerable members of the society are visited and given gifts.

Mother's Day is an American social celebration in honour of mothers, which started on 12th May 1908 by Anna Jarvis. It is celebrated every second Sunday of May. It is not connected to the Mothering Sunday, which is a church event.

The Significance Of Mothering Sunday In The Anglican Church Today:

- It is a day of honouring all married women in the Anglican Church.

- It is a day to show love, gratitude and appreciation to all Mothers through acts of kindness and giving.

- It is a day when all women/Mothers are expectant of receiving gifts and goodwill from their Husbands and Children.

A Message for All Mothers at This Year's Mothering Sunday

Mothers are called upon to be Lois and Eunice of our time (2Tim. 1:5; Act 16:1). Lois and Eunice were the mother and grandmother of Timothy. Apostle Paul met these two women while he was on one of his missionary journeys. He was impressed by their sincere faith in our Lord Jesus— a faith without hypocrisy or fake exaggeration. Despite living in Lystra, a Gentile city, they were committed Christians and passed this faith to Timothy. Their lives had great influence on the young Timothy, which helped him to grow spiritually and became one to whom Paul could entrust the Church's leadership.

As women and mothers, we have the greatest influence to impact our present generation and generations to come. Our lives speak volumes and people around us learn a lot from them.

Let us be Lois and Eunice of our time to bring up godly children and grandchildren, the moral vices and evils of our present age notwithstanding.
